Fistic News and Gossip

By John Pollock

After an absence of nearly three years from the ring, Billy Papke, the "Illinois Thunderbolt," and former middleweight champion, made an unsuccessful effort last night to "come back." Billy met Irish Jack Smith, one of the former fighters of the navy, in a ten-round bout at the Enoch Arden, C. C. in Brooklyn and at the final bell he was not only outboxed, but his left eye was closed. Papke was only the Papke of old in strength and willingness to mix. He carried the fighting to Smith and while he managed to land all kinds of blows he did not have the same hard force behind them as of yore. His judgment of distance was so poor that he missed the frequent blows by many inches. His long range boxing was so poor that he had no trouble in countering with heavy left jabs in the face and an occasional right to the jaw or face.

Millwain will be the scene of another important fight tomorrow night. The fighters who will draw in this are Charley White, the hard-hitting lightweight of Chicago, and Archie Mitchell of Milwaukee, who has been rapidly climbing the list as a result of his victories this year. They will box ten rounds at Madison.

Matt Wells, the fast English welterweight, is matched for another contest. His opponent will be Frankie Mack, the game fighter of Boston. They will exchange blows in a ten-round bout at a show to be held at Rossmore, N. Y., on the night of June 9. Wells is also booked up for an eight-round bout with Johnny Dundee at Madison, N. Y., June 16.

Jack Britton, who is to take on Mike O'Neil, the fighting Irishman of St. Paul, for twelve rounds at the Atlas A. A. of Boston on next Tuesday night, has just been matched by his manager, Danny Morgan, for another bout. He will fight against Hastings Brown, an ex-Scots warrior, for ten rounds at the Ryan A. C. of Syracuse, N. Y., on June 23.

At the Harlem Sporting Club boxing show tonight there will be two ten-round and several preliminary bouts. In the two main events Joe Gibbs takes Young Laver and Alvin Porel goes against Young Terry. Hastings Brown and Young O'Brien clash in the six round main final.

The New Polo A. A. of Harlem is another club that will hold a boxing show this evening. Joe Mackin and Eddie Clifford will come together in the star bout of ten rounds, while in the other rounder Pete Collins and Johnny Saxon will battle for supremacy.

DAILY REVIEW OF BIG LEAGUE RACES

Giants Are Home Again After Most Successful Trip Any Club Ever Had

New York Nationals Left Polo Grounds Hopeless Tailenders—Had They Won Final Game in Philadelphia They Would Have Returned Tied for Lead.

By Bozeman Bulger.

IT was a glorious record, the like of which the National League has not seen since baseball reached the dignity of a national pastime, but when the golden opportunity flashed before our Giants—kerplunk—they had to fall before Eppa Jetha Rixey. Had Eppa Jetha been a trifle more lenient the Giants to-day would be tied for the lead and would have wound up a sensational trip with amazing results—a climb from hopeless tailender to the top rung of the ladder.

But, even so, New York is just as proud of the former champions as if the record had been twenty-one straight. The forlorn hope of a world's record that gradually grew into a probability was a little more than the most optimistic should have prophesied.

The reception at the Polo Grounds to-day is expected to outdo that accorded the Giants when they won the world's championship in 1905. Practically every reserved seat in the stands has been sold for to-day and tomorrow and old fans that had grown callous with two or three years of defeat are again feverish. The 1916 baseball bug bit hard.

The fans of Greater New York would have been satisfied with the double defeat of the Dodgers had it meant the ascendancy of the Giants to the lead, but as the matter stands both clubs are staggering under a black eye and will have to turn loose on another year. The league believes that the Giants will lead at an early date and a canvass of the various cities, made by a Western enthusiast, shows that six out of eight communities pick New York to win the pennant. Around here they think it a cinch.

On the long trip around the entire circuit, with the exception of Brooklyn, the Giants won nineteen out of twenty-one games, seventeen of them being consecutive. The only defeats were suffered at the hands of the League Champions and fate so willed it that they fell before the weaker members of the Philly pitching staff. Alexander, the man they feared, was easy. The victors are Al Memore and Eppa Jetha Rixey.

By winning the double-header from Brooklyn the Braves brought their losing slump to an official end, and George Stallings declares that his club will now proceed to win the championship. George believes that, too. He fears only the Giants.

"The only trouble we have had," he says, "has been with pitchers. As soon as Rudolph, Tyler and others get going you New York fellows had better keep your eyes open."

It is interesting that neither Robinson, Stallings nor McGraw thinks that the Phillies have a chance to repeat.

The Yanks, on the eve of their departure for the West, had an opportunity to climb into a real fight to hold first place, but things also broke wrong for them. Ray Caldwell pitched one of his bad games, while the Athletics held Donovan's men in a tight grip throughout the game. At no time did the Yanks have a chance.

An interesting sight to the New York fans will be the daily trip of Poll Peritt from the bench to the club house with the little leather bag containing the balls. He started that on the first day of the Western tourney, and every time he takes "the game in a bag to the club house" the Giants have managed to win. The players have grown so much faith in this lucky move that Poll is forced to do the stunt every afternoon. On two occasions the lucky thrower forgot his duty until the last minute, and the Giants came within an ace of losing.

The Reds, who arrived here this morning, ready for a comeback at the Giants, are regarded as the strongest of the Western clubs of the National League. A month ago they were thought to have the best pitching staff in the circuit. The Giants, however, took a lot of wind out of their sails. Garry Herrmann, President of the Reds and also Chairman of the National Commission, threw up his hands last night when asked about that series between New York and Cincinnati recently.

"I never saw much baseball in my life," he said. "I don't believe the Giants can ever keep that pace up, and it is a good thing. If they did the race would be over before the middle of the summer. McGraw has a wonderful team and he may win—the chances are in his favor—but, believe me, nobody will ever be able to handle the Reds that way again."

TWO CLUBS ENOUGH FOR THIS GOLF PLAYER.

Harry Cook is one golfer who doesn't like to be burdened with a bulging bag of clubs. Playing in the qualifying round of the Jersey State championship at Englewood he calmly told his caddy to leave the bag in the club house after he extracted just two clubs, the masher and putter. While the others were using anything from six to a dozen different clubs Cook relied on his two weapons, the masher to bat the ball up on the greens and the putter to run it into the hole. This novel way of playing with just two clubs earned a score inside the hundred mark.

MUNDY WINS MEDAL ON WYKAGYL LINKS.

R. F. Mundy of Ardley won the medal in the qualifying round of the Westchester County championship over the difficult links of the Wykagyl Country Club yesterday. Mundy returned a card of 80, a stroke better than the card of John G. Anderson, the Swanoy Captain.

So heavy was the eleventh hour entry that when the committee had sent the last couple away it was found that 110 golfers had started. The long and difficult home hole caused the downfall of many, and it so happened that Anderson was the only player to get a 4 there. He did that as the result of a long putt from the edge of the green.

Leland Stanford Stars to Play Here. Herbert L. Hahn and Van Dyke Johns, the star lawn tennis pair of the Leland Stanford Jr. University, head the list of entrants for the annual invitation tournament which will begin tomorrow on the turf courts of the Country Club of Westchester. Willis E. Davis, the Californian who recently won the Sleepy Hollow Cup, also will compete.
